Captain's Footnotes:

Our "Spring" Invitational was less than the much needed sunny, balmy weather event. However, enough hardy (30+) and enthusiastic Pacific Northwest women bundled up, put on the rain gear and had a terrific time playing with new friends, dodging intermittent sprinkles, and enjoying the new and tricky features of the front nine.

I hope many of you have taken the time to read the "mid-month" member profile all about one of our dearest Charter Members, Amy Nikaitani. She is a steady golfer and an accomplished artist. Our plans are to continue this feature each month between the first of each month's FORE. To keep the feature fresh, please feel free to contact me in person to suggest your own ideas for a worthy profile. Everyone is dynamic and interesting or at least we know someone who is. But we are looking for those wonderful women who have that "extra" special and unexpected jobs, or personal characteristics. We hope you will be surprised and delighted to discover details and qualities our member profiles already contribute to your RLGA. Don't forget to look my up to get a round with her! .

We hope you have already signed up for the "Red, White, And Blue tournament on May 17th. This tournament is a new opportunity for some of you because it will be played on a Sunday, and for many of us in the higher handicaps it is also one of the most challenging events RLGA has all year. I don't know about you, but playing an entire round from the RED tees is difficult enough, but driving from the WHITE and the BLUE teeing areas gives you an entirely different view of the course and causes much pondering and hand wringing to select clubs, which 6 holes we be played from where . . . It requires thinking and good ball striking. Please, come join us for this event, since over the past few years, different women won this tournament as continuing evidence that our club is home to a tremendous variety of golfers. But individual handicap numbers and skillful play are only on the surface, since I never win anything . . . I think this tournament takes a lot of luck . . . and spot on second shots! . . .

See you on the Course, Of course!
Phyllis Ellermeier, RLGA, 2009 Captain

From your tournament Chairman, Mary Powers

Our next tournament is the Red White and Blue. This is an individual stroke play competition. We will play 6 holes from the Red tees, 6 holes from the White tees and 6 holes from the Blue tees. I know this format can seem intimidating for those of us that don't hit the ball very far but remember we're all playing the same yardage. I've set up the tournament so that on the longest and hardest holes you'll be playing from the Red tees. This is one of our biggest attended events. Last year we were able to have two divisions which gave everyone more opportunity to win. Please consider joining us. For those of you that have never played in a tournament before give this one a try. As I talk to people about why they don't play in tournaments I consistently hear two reasons. 1. "I'm not good enough to play in tournaments. That is not true. We have women with handicaps as high as 40 participate and WIN in our tournaments. It is the joy of the handicapping system that gives every player a chance to win. 2. "I don't know the rules." - That may be true but you'll be surprised at how much you do know once you get out there and play. Also, every RLGA member that I've played with has always been very gracious and helpful when I was unsure of a ruling. Our club is about inclusion and promoting women golf.

Bunker Madness Submitted by Anne Tuttle, Rules and Bylaws

We have lovely new sand in our Riverbend bunkers. Some people are finding that sand easier to escape and some are finding it harder. Here are a few pointers from the Decisions on the Rules of Golf that could come in handy when you are sandy.

Let's just say your first stroke in the bunker leaves you with a second stroke from that bunker.... The rules do allow you to smooth irregularities in that bunker before taking your next stroke provided that for that next stroke you do not improve your lie, area of intended stance or swing or line of play. In other words, the Rules assume you learned all you can about the condition of the sand when you made your first stroke from in the bunker and so allow you to rake the area where a shot was just played so long as it does nothing to improve the conditions for the stroke remaining. AKA-free testing of the bunker (with lots of strings attached)!

While in the bunker, should your backswing be in danger of touching the ground in the bunker, be careful. This would incur a 2 stroke penalty and it would probably ruin your stroke anyway. You may take the rake- it is allowed to place or throw a rake in the bunker in preparation for using the rake after the stroke. You just cannot stick the rake in the ground like a fork into a steak as that would constitute testing.

FORCE ON THE COURSE"
CONGRATULATIONS!

Today was our first Team Match at Mt Si. Riverbend vs. Maplewood. Maplewood has always been one of our toughest competitors. We had a great team and, they were ready! For each match there is a possibility of 9 points for Scratch and 9 points for Handicap. (Three for each two woman team.) Well, today our Team took 8 ½ points for Scratch and 8 ½ points for Handicap! Fantastic!!! Way to go girls!!!!

Today's AwesomeTeam

Earlier this month, I was in the Pro-Shop, next the driving range, I noticed the cash register/computer tracked the transaction and recorded I was a RLGA member. I asked why and learned the RLGA members, all 100 of us, out-spend in the proshop by double the amount of the 450 strong Riverbend mens club.

Perhaps our dollars spent at the Riverbend Pro Shop is why the staff at Riverbend is so good to us. From Pete Petersen, our general manager to the grounds crew, these guys are so good to us. This reminded me that the board should do what we can to help you put names to the faces of the staff. When there is space, I'll picture one of the guys. Meanwhile keep spending your golf dollars at the Riverbend Pro Shop when you can.

	Red, White & Blue Tournament

Sunday, May 17, 2009 – 8:33 AM

This is a really fun format. It is an individual Stroke Play competition with a twist. We play 6 holes from the Red tees, 6 holes from the White tees and 6 holes from the Blue tees. Don't worry; you don't have to be a long hitter to play this format. It's interesting when you play from the different tee boxes. You find yourself in places on the course that you've never been before. Please join us for some fun and be a part of "A Force on the Course"!

To participate in the Red, White & Blue you have to be an active member of the RLGA by having paid your 2009 membership dues. Complete the bottom of this entry form, then drop it and your entry fees into the RLGA box in the Pro shop or mail it to our PO Box.
